To encourage owners to be more responsible signage had been erected; free dog bags provided, stencils painted on hard surfaces and dog bins placed around the perimeter but this had not reduced the level of un-cleared fouling.

A number of suggestions were discussed and following debate it was RESOLVED to launch a publicity campaign to encourage irresponsible dog users to be more considerate and clean up after their pets, emphasising how unhealthy and unhygienic it was for other users of the park. If this did not improve the situation Sprowston Recreation Ground would be restricted to dogs on a lead.

Report of the Town Clerk

COMMUNITY BUILDINGS, ALLOTMENTS, PARKS AND OPEN SPACES

1.1 Barkers Lane Shelter

The current youth shelter at Barkers Lane is the second replacement which unfortunately has a long history of abuse by youths and been subjected to extensive graffiti. The shelter has again suffered damage by youths reportedly jumping on the roof, succeeding on pushing this to an unacceptable level. Residents have reported that whilst they realise the field is not just for dog walkers but also for young families and teenagers to get together and socialise for the past few weeks things have reached a different level. Broken glass has been left on the field in the last incident. Debris at the site includes aerosol cans condoms, syringes, wine and beer bottles. Residents who have challenged the behaviour of those jumping up and down on top of the shelter have been verbally abused and the damage has been reported to the Police.

Notwithstanding the above the shelter has proved a welcome addition to the field by those who shelter from inclement weather.

The open litterbin in the middle of the field has been removed and an enclosed single bin is to be erected at the entrance by the oak tree onto Church Lane.

Option: to instruct the Town Clerk with regard to the shelter on Barkers Lane field.

Subject: Tree works and mulching

Dear June,

I am pleased to provide a quote for carrying out the remedial H&S tree works, the phase 1 retrenchment pruning and the soil amelioration measures, as outlined in the recent H&S tree survey for Millennium Loke.

The tree pruning, which will include removal of dead wood and other hazards listed in the survey, along with 'retrenchment pruning' (whereby the oldest or weakest trees are pruned over a period of time to lessen loading on the furthestmost limbs and reducing the likelihood of a large limb to tear apart from the body of the tree) will cost £3210 plus VAT. This includes the use of a cherry-picker type platform.

The soil amelioration works are included to revitalise the trees, which have hostile rooting environments with hard surfaces and structures and competition from close-cropped grass. Bringing in organic material will slowly release nutrients to give the trees a natural boost to regenerate their resources and serves to improve soil quality. This work is carried out by leading arboretums such as Kew Gardens and is proven to increase vitality and longevity. The material will be locally sourced green waste mixed with bark mulch to provide a more ornamental look and will be spread around the tree up to the canopy spreads (where practical) or to the edge of the well-used, central footpath. In time the mulch will return to the soil and the area could be re-seeded or better still, kept topped up with mulch. Our price for supply and spreading the material will be £1200 plus VAT.

Soil tilthing can take place ahead of the mulching which will allow a better penetration of the organic matter. This would be carried out using a small tractor with tines to agitate the very top of the soil. The work would be £475 plus VAT.

All these measures not only address the health and safety findings but also gives the best chance for the trees to be sustained into the future. As a feature that has been present since at least the 1800s it is important to try and preserve old trees for the ecology and for the landscape.

I am happy to discuss any aspect of the above further.

Best wishes

Jonathan
